Allison,

I have repeatedly felt like Chris Tzanakos is prejudice against me. He has on multiple occasions compared me to his ex-wife. Telling me how he could not stand to live with it. He does not give me a fair chance, he continually side against me. Yesterday, he attempted to pull my wife into a conversation, asking me "how does your mental problem affect your relationship with your wife?" Then continuing to tell me how it should.

Additionally, he is holding the 5 week leave as a black mark against me. Continually referring to it. Why did we go through this whole thing just to have my bosses hold it against me and do everything in their power to make me want to leave?
